Revoz is the only car manufacturer in Slovenia. The company is owned by the French Group Renault and it has held its position among the biggest Slovenian exporter for several years. It ranks at the top of Slovenian companies by its revenues as well. The Revoz plant is entirely incorporated into the system of the Renault Production Department which links all its European plants manufacturing passenger cars and light commercial vehicles. All projects introduced at the Production Department level are introduced at the Revoz plant as well. REVOZ is the only plant manufacturing two successful Renault models: the New Twingo (3rd generation) and Clio II for the countries of the northern Africa. As from the end of September 2014, the plant is going to produce the New Smart ForFour within the framework of the strategic cooperation between the Renault Nissan Alliance and Daimler from Germany. In order to ensure business excellence, Revoz developed a quality assurance system several years ago, which is today regularly confirmed by ISO 9001 audits. Revoz obtained the ISO 14001 certificate as early as in 1999, demonstrating the quality of its environmental management and continuous anticipation of sustainable development.

Ownership

Group Renault 100 % owner of Revoz

The Group Renault has been a majority stockholder of Revoz since 1991 with 54 % of its capital. The share increased to 66,68 % in 2001, and on December 22, 2003, Renault bought the rest of the shares and became 100 % shareholder at the beginning of 2004.
